

CHARMING ACCESSORIES TO THE SUMMER WARDROBE

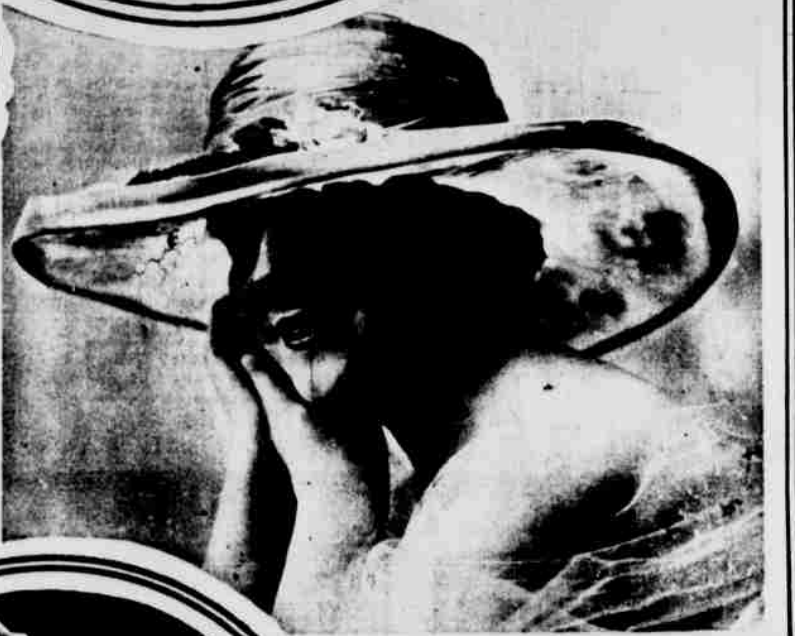

There are ways and means of overcoming summer heat. Two of them are from Gimbel Bros. The flesh Georgette gown is heavily beaded in a banded design, and the black satin and white Georgette is also attractively trimmed in the same.

Velvet may look wintry, perhaps to remind us of cooler days; nevertheless fashion decrees this stunning model in gray blue with huge buttons and striped collar to match the skirt. The chiffon hat has openwork rings in the brim. Both from Bloomingdales.

Cloth of gold and oriental hand-painted chiffon are the sole dependents upon which this negligee rests—and what more, with the odd little cap, is necessary?

You decide on economy; but discretion flits with the breezes while you shop, and leaves—Embroidered silk net, silver ribbon and a rose—your frail defence. From Lord and Taylor. Underwood & Underwood Fashion Studios.

"Veils by all means," said she as she deftly arranged a filmy creation of Van Raalte over her hat—and who wouldn't follow suit, with the same incentive?

You may have your choice—street, evening or sport shoes—from J. & J. Slater. We admit it takes a level head for the final decision when one pair is in the balance.

As refreshing as a snowdrop on the summer ball-room floor is this delicate silver and maline frock with its queer little train starting from nowhere in particular and its frilled peplum. The silver corsage is beaded with pearls.

Maybe you will and maybe you won't; anyway, here they are—Mark Cross offers them of enamel or steel, corded or tasselled, canes and parasols for rain or shine.
